Declaration of Sara Kiles, filed 3/19/12 in support of Petition, states:

- She is writing on the well-being of Pierce Jenkins.
- Ms. Kiles was married to the minor's father Lloyd for 3 years, and was with him for a total of 6 years. She divorced Lloyd in 2005 due to his severe emotional abuse of her.
- Ms. Kiles has known the minor since he was 8 months old. When she first met him, Petitioners Terri and Roland Baker had custody of him (Pierce was in foster care the first month of his life), because it was determined his biological parents were unfit to have him. The biological mother gave up all her rights to Pierce.
- Ms. Kiles states that she and Pierce grew close over the years to where he called her Mommy and she called him her son, and she still thinks of him today as her son. She has tried to stay close to him as she knew he had no relationship with his father Lloyd, however Lloyd has pushed her away using the minor as a way to hurt her.
- Lloyd received custody of Pierce when he was 18 months old, because Lloyd was with Ms. Kiles, and together they had a safe and loving home. During her entire time with Lloyd, Pierce was always with her; his father rarely had him as he was too busy working 12-16 hours days or being out with his friends; therefore he was never a Dad to Pierce.
- Lloyd has always put himself before his children. When Lloyd and Ms. Kiles would have Lloyd's two older boys in their home every other week, it was Ms. Kales who took care of them and took them to and from school, helped them with their homework, made sure they were fed, bathed, etc. The children saw very little of their father.
- When Lloyd was at home with Pierce and his other sons, he would yell at them to leave him alone and not bother him; and they would have to stay in their rooms or the backyard – they were never free to roam the house.
- When they got in trouble or were simply being kids he would punch wall to get his point across; he used intimidation and fear to get his points across.
- If the children were ever sick or hurt he yelled at them to suck it up and quit acting like “babies,” and would force them to go to school no matter how they felt.
- Pierce and Lloyd's two other sons never got to be children.
- Pierce has great potential and needs rules, encouragement, love, stability, a room of his own and a safe place to live – all that Petitioners can provide which his father cannot.
- Pierce has been having trouble at his current school and is often afraid to go there; Petitioners will be able to place Pierce in a Clovis school.
- Pierce has been bounced around his entire life, and needs a stable home to grow up in. Petitioners love him as their own son.
- Ms. Kiles asks the Court to please take a look at and inquire of the Father Lloyd's living conditions; the minor was taken from his Father as an infant, and only returned when Ms. Kiles was with Lloyd.
- The only one suffering in this case is Pierce, who is being dragged through a mess created by his Father.
